

TRUE · LEVEL · PRECISE

Cinematic websites, engineered for trades.

THE MARK

A plumb-bob. True, level, precise.

The plumb-bob is the oldest tool for getting something exactly right — and a quiet nod to water for the plumbing trade. It signals websites that are exact, dependable and beautifully made. The hanging beam doubles as a subtle "T".

Don't redraw it. Always use the supplied vector files.

LOGO SYSTEM

One system, every surface.

Primary lockup — light backgrounds

Reversed — navy / dark backgrounds

Stacked — square spaces, social

Symbol only — app icon, favicon, stamp

Clear space: keep padding equal to the height of the bob's beam.

Minimum size: horizontal lockup $\geq 140\text{px}$ wide; symbol $\geq 24\text{px}$; favicon holds at 16px .

COLOUR

Navy and chalk do the work. Brass leads the eye.

Trade Navy

#0E1B2A

Primary — backgrounds, body text

Brass

#C9A227

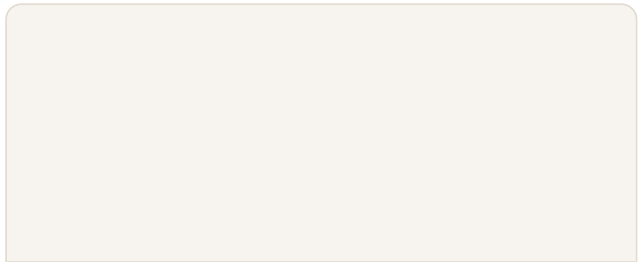

Accent — highlights, "LAB", CTAs

Spirit Teal

#0F766E

Secondary — links, small UI detail

Chalk

#F7F4EF

Light surfaces, reversed text

Supporting ink for long copy on light: #3A434E. Hairlines / dividers:

#E3DDD1. Brass is the one thing you want the eye to land on; teal is a quiet accent — never let it compete with brass.

Space Grotesk & Inter.

Trades Lab

SPACE GROTESK · 500 Medium / 700 Bold — display, headlines, the logotype

AaBbCcDdEe · 0123456789

The quick brown fox builds a cinematic website.

INTER · 400 / 600 / 700 — body, UI, long-form copy

Headlines use Space Grotesk Bold with tight tracking. Body copy is Inter Regular at a comfortable 1.5–1.6 line-height. Small labels and eyebrows are Inter SemiBold, uppercase, +2–3 letter-spacing. Both fonts are free on Google Fonts.

Do & Don't.

Do

- ✓ Use the master SVG files
- ✓ Keep to navy / brass / teal / chalk
- ✓ Give the logo room to breathe
- ✓ Use the reversed mark on dark
- ✓ Let brass be the single accent

Don't

- ✗ Recolour the mark off-palette
- ✗ Stretch, rotate or skew it
- ✗ Add shadows or gradients
- ✗ Place the light logo on a busy photo
- ✗ Rebuild the wordmark in another font

On busy photography, use the reversed lockup over a navy scrim. When in doubt, more space and fewer colours.
